

Today, with our future scientists, we carried out our Micro Sprout activity.

By learning about the conditions plants need to grow, we became more aware of the life cycle of living things.

You can create a small observation area at home and follow the sprouting process together by asking your child: "How does a micro sprout grow?"

Stay curious and keep exploring science!

MICRO SPROUT

