

Today, our little scientists conducted a wonderful experiment about colors. We observed that when primary colors come together, they form secondary colors. Just like real scientists, we used laboratory tools and equipment.

At home, you can ask them about the primary colors and which secondary colors they created in this experiment.

Stay curious and keep exploring science!

HARMONY OF COLORS

